

FIRST RESIDENTS CALL 1010 MIDTOWN HOME
Luxury Midtown Atlanta High-Rise Attracts Diverse Residents
Ranging from Empty Nesters to Young Professionals

ATLANTA (Nov. 10, 2008)—Young professionals and empty nesters alike have watched the evolution of Atlanta’s premier address on Peachtree Street—1010 Midtown—located between 11th and 12th streets. The upscale design, central location and sophisticated lifestyle have enticed them.

Since construction began in August 2006, 1010 Midtown—the first phase of 12th & Midtown—has commanded a presence in the heart of Midtown Atlanta. Once prospective suitors now have a new name for the luxury high-rise. They call it “home.”

Empty nesters Jim Rubio, a small business owner, and his wife, Ann, a principal with firm Rule Joy Trammell + Rubio Architecture (which designed 1010 Midtown), are 1010 Midtown’s first residents. After raising four children and living a suburban lifestyle in Atlanta’s Buckhead area for more than 20 years, Rubio said he and his wife searched for a place that would be the hub of excitement for their new phase of life.

“We reached the stage of our lives where we wanted to treat ourselves,” said Ann Rubio. “1010 Midtown provided a place where we could reside amidst the best views Atlanta has to offer, meet new people and enjoy resort-inspired amenities. We’re especially excited to dine at the new restaurants opening along the street level.”

Beyond the restaurants of Ri Ra Irish Pub, RA Sushi, Piola and Noon|Midtown, residents find themselves at the cornerstone of Atlanta’s Midtown Mile, which includes flagship Peachtree Street retail and the one-of-a-kind Loews Atlanta Hotel across the street, also part of the 12th & Midtown development.

Will Floyd, a 28-year-old accountant and 1010 Midtown homebuyer, said the project caught his attention because of its proximity to so many Midtown amenities.

“With several condo options in the Atlanta market, I chose to purchase a home at 1010 Midtown because of its prime location on Peachtree Street,” said Floyd. “I look forward to experiencing the benefits of being able to park my car and live the pedestrian lifestyle.”

Condos remain available for purchase, and prospective buyers have the opportunity to view professionally decorated model homes and tour the 35-story building. The development’s one-, two-, and three-bedroom homes have floor-to-ceiling windows, 10-foot ceilings, hardwood floors, stainless steel appliances, stone baths and large balconies. Residents also will enjoy resort-inspired amenities, including a state-of-the-art fitness center, clubroom, swimming pool and private deck-top plaza with panoramic views of the downtown skyline. The wide variety of floorplans, with prices ranging from $220,000 to more than $1.5 million, ensures options for everyone.

“1010 Midtown was designed to offer luxury homes that provide access to Midtown’s best offerings,” said Jason Winburn, vice president of sales and marketing, Daniel Corp. “We have received an enthusiastic response from homebuyers who have embraced the refined lifestyle embodied by 1010 Midtown.”

The development team’s commitment and vision to raise the bar on Midtown residential and retail allowed the design team to create this premiere project. Architecture firm Rule Joy Trammell + Rubio designed 1010 Midtown to accentuate the natural curve in Peachtree Street creating an elegant high-rise along the Midtown Mile.

“As a core member of the design team for 1010 Midtown, I was fortunate to see up-front that the project was going to bring the Midtown Mile to life,” said first homebuyer, Ann Rubio. “I saw promise in the development and knew it was a smart investment, which is why I decided to purchase a unit myself. I’m certain others will feel the same way.”

Ten professionally designed model homes and the onsite Sales Gallery are now open. For more information, visit www.1010midtown.com or call 404-815-4622 to schedule a personal viewing.
